DO NOT ABUSE OPPORTUNITY

Since almost every member of the graduating class this year will enter college in September, my message is directed principally to that group. At the risk of being called repetitious and old-fogyish, I again urge those entering college to bear in mind at least some of the advice about college that has been given you by those who have already been there and who may have some background to justify the advice they have given. Here at Monson you have learned, I trust, good study habits. It is true that some of you may have learned these habits in spite of your desire not to do so. At least you have been exposed to them. In college you will have no faculty member visiting your room periodically to check on whether you are utilizing your time advantageously. You will be "on your own" completely. You will probably rejoice at the realization of this new freedom and will be tempted to use the freedom to the limit in doing many things not permitted in preparatory school. This abuse of free time, unfortunately, causes the downfall of many a college freshman. The freshman year in college is in many respects the most difficult year, and it is particularly important that you get off to a good start. You yourselves are not the only ones to whom you owe the greatest possible effort to succeed. You owe your parents a great deal for their sacrifices in sending you to college; you owe a great deal to the college admission officials for having selected you for admission over some other fellow, and you must justify their confidence in you to make the grade; and you owe much to the school from which you are entering college.

Do your part in making yourselves valuable members of the college community. Go out for extra-curricular activities, but don't indulge in them to such an extent that you miss out on the real purpose of your attending college.

Don't be afraid to be gentlemen and to act as gentlemen. Don't be afraid to stand apart from the crowd if you know that you are right and the crowd is wrong. You don't necessarily have to be eccentric to do what you know is best. To follow the leadership of those whom you know to be wrong and whom you do not respect is only an indication of spinelessness on your part.

America needs educated men now as never before. You are being given an opportunity to enter college and later to take tests to determine whether or not you are worth educating. I believe you are. I sincerely hope you will justify the confidence which this school has placed in you.

Sincerely,

George E. Rogers

Headmaster

The Class of 1965 sincerely and affectionately dedicates this edition of the Academy Bell to Mr. Phillip J. Cardone. "Coach" Cardone has been almost as close to many of us as he is to his own children; and in many respects he is like a father away from home. His keen sense of personal interest and guidance, both in the class room and on the athletic fields, has helped us to formulate a very honorable and trustworthy sense of decency and "fair play".

Words are like leaves; and where they most abound,

Much fruit of sense beneath
is rarely found.

Essay on Criticism
Alexander Pope

From man to man by words an image formed.
Interpretations leave the memory.
An object is material in its ways,
But many words leave man like early morning haze.
A picture is the memory printed clear,
Where words could mean a hundred objects near.
Thoughtlessness can hurt the mortal soul,
And kill a nation striving for some goal,
Of lasting freedom man forever strives,
For deprived of this, the world cannot survive.
A wordless world surely can't long exist,
But words when spoken harsh can never be dismissed
For man was made with heart and soul and mind.
And spirit is nothing more mortal can bind.
For He alone is leader of this task,
Of His commands we have no right to ask.
The brain of man is an intricate design,
And rules were made by it to tease the mind.
The wise man speaks but little and is heard.
He is master of the object not the word.
The mind can develop only what is earned,
And what is deep inside can never be returned.
As words float by like clouds up in the sky,
The objects of my sight remain until I die.

PREST POUR MON PAIS

1804 — 1965

Monson

1804 - 1886

The Reverend John Willard, D.D., of Stafford, Connecticut, joined the local parson, Jesse Ives, in getting a state charter for the founding of Monson Academy. The Act of Incorporation of Monson Academy was passed by the Massachusetts House of Representatives on June 21, 1804. The first Academy building was opened in 1806.

The first Headmaster, Simeon Colton, who left after his first year, in 1807, returned in 1821 and stayed nine years. This was the period of Monson's beginning as a great school. During the decade 1820-1931 the school graduated such famous men as Dr. Henry L. Barnard, Professor W.A. Larned, and the Reverend Richard S. Storrs.

In 1835, Charles Hammond, of Union, Connecticut, entered Monson as a student. He served as principal from 1839 to 1853, and again from 1863 to 1878.

The physical plant of the school increased with the student body. In 1819 the first dormitory was built near the present site of Cushman Hall. In 1824 the first laboratory was erected. The site of the old laboratory is now occupied by the Holmes Gymnasium. In 1845, Dr. Hammond had the entire school renovated and modernized.

The Civil War caused a temporary closing of the Academy in 1862, but it reopened in the following year after two additional wings had been added to the old building.

A disastrous fire in 1886 destroyed the old Academy Hall, but later in the same year a more substantial granite and brick building was erected. The Holmes Gymnasium was built in 1900 and Cushman Hall, in 1904.

An older dormitory, Hammond Hall, was at the same time torn down to make room for a Headmaster's residence, Hammond Place. Cushman Memorial Field was given in 1911 by Edward C. Cushman.

After the First World War the town of Monson built a separate high school. The Academy was again temporarily closed in 1923, while arrangements were made to revert to the old status of a century before. During the next two years the Trustees granted the use of the Academy buildings to the town for use as a high school. In 1926 Monson Academy was reopened as a purely preparatory school for boys. The new headmaster, Mr. Bertram A. Strohmeirer, announced in the catalogue that the school would be "developed on an American adaptation of the English House Plan." In keeping with this plan an additional dormitory Morris House, was deeded to the Academy. Mr. Strohmeier was succeeded in 1935 by Dr. George E. Rogers.

In 1938, the Holmes Gymnasium was enlarged. In 1947 the Academy acquired two additional buildings: Chapin House and Holmbrook. In 1948, the Academy constructed the new Cushman Memorial Field, which replaced the old field destroyed in the 1938 hurricane.

On February 23, 1953, a disastrous fire swept the Academy Hall. Plans were immediately made to replace Academy Hall. It was decided that the new location would be at the top of the hill on High Street. The new, modern Academy, called Alumni Hall, was officially dedicated on the occasion of the school's sesquicentennial celebration, on October 9, 1954.

In 1956 the Board of Trustees purchased the large house and property just north of Alumni Hall for use as the Headmaster's residence. Hammond Place was converted into a dormitory. In 1958 the Board of Trustees purchased a large duplex on Flynt Avenue for use as a dormitory.

Four new tennis courts were constructed behind Holmbrook in the spring of 1962. In the fall of that year, the Harper Gymnasium was completed.

In the autumn of 1963, an addition to the rear of Alumni Hall was ready for use. A gift of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harper, the new wing consists of four classrooms, one of which is an excellent foreign language laboratory, and a faculty lounge. The dedication of the addition took place on October 5, 1963.

In September the Senior class of 1965 commissioned Mr. Roger E. Crafts to paint a picture of the home of Dr. and Mrs. George E. Rogers . . . Headmaster. Mr. Crafts worked from a colored slide. He completed his work in January.

Mr. Crafts has a very interesting technique which is known as photographic. His style is that of Grant Wood, a famous American painter.

The painting was presented on May 21, 1965 at a school assembly. The work is to hang in the Headmaster's home on Cape Cod.
